Fire Whistle Ignored in 1906 Holocaust Here

FIRE: The return of students this week to the rebuilt Harrisburg Junior high school recalls the tragic fire on that early New Year's morning year before last to most of our residents.

But how many are still here who remember another holocaust that occurred early on a New Year's day a half century ago.

On that morning, what was known as the "union block" on the east side of the square burned. There had been a celebration at midnight and for a time afterwards, heralding in the New Year of 1906, with whistles, shooting and the ringing of bells, including the sounding of the fire bell.

So when fire was discovered around 2 a. m. that New Year's morning and the fire bell was rung and rung, nearly everybody figured that the celebration was being carried on by the boys who still were out and didn't pay too much attention at first.

I was looking through the files of the old weekly Saline County Register when I ran across the account of the big blaze.

The fire was discovered in the rear of the Pearce Bros. grocery on the ground floor of the E. W. Wiedemann building, and the blaze spread to get also the Seten and Davenport buildings.

The story relates that the fire was already well under way and had spread to the upper floor, occupied by the Chronicle printing offices and the offices of W. I. Reynolds and Esquire Ira Gibbons before the fire department got to fighting the blaze, "because people were slow to respond to the alarm owing to the noisy manner in which the New Year had been ushered in with whistles, shooting and bells, including the fire bell which had been sounded repeatedly."

The story said that "the fire department turned out and the boys worked heroically to check the flames, but the Seten and Davenport buildings on the south, comprising the remainder of the 'union block' and extending to the southeast corner of the square, were soon hopelessly aflame."

The entire block, the story related, was destroyed, including the Pearce store and Chronicle plant contents.

"The Seten Dry Goods Co. and the Ralph Towle Co. occupied the Seten and Davenport buildings, respectively, and saved a portion

Guardsmen On Duty to Prevent Further Rioting

Guard Force Cut

At Clinton, Tenn.,

As Situation Eases

By United Press

Negro pupils stayed home from a newly integrated high school in Sturgis, Ky., today although National Guardsmen stood ready to force their way into class again.

The state troops with drawn bayonets pushed through a fist-swinging crowd at the school Thursday to get nine Negroes safely into their classrooms. All were absent today but the parents of one child sent word they would be back Monday.

A crowd of 500, determined to keep Sturgis High School segregated if possible, assembled on the school grounds before school opened this morning.

The situation grew tense in the early morning hours with reports that the crowd would be swelled by miners from nearby communities.

National Guardsmen, bayonets now removed from their guns, stood guard along with state troopers whose 20 cars were parked bumper to bumper at the school.

The National Guard force at Clinton, Tenn., was lowered to about 200 today as the tense situation there eased. Twelve Negro pupils are in Clinton High. More than half of the 800 white students remained away from classes.

Teacher Faces Ousting

A new segregation development occurred in Georgia today where a white teacher, Mrs. Colleen Marie Wiggins, said she faces ousting from her job because she refused to sign a statement that she does not believe in racial integration.

Mrs. Wiggins said her troubles began when she told a seventh grade history class she would not mind teaching integrated class in a state where integration was permitted. She said she also advised the class that as long as her daughter married someone she loved and respected, it would make no difference to her about the race of the partner.

"But as far as saying I want my little girl to marry a Negro, I do not," she said.

At Matoaka, W. Va., officials said that four out of every five white students were still playing hooky from the recently integrated high school, and the boycott movement was spreading to at least two other southwest Virginia schools.

Wilkins Criticizes Ike

In Denver, Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, charged in a speech that President Eisenhower "contributed little to the cause of law and order" by his integration statements Wednesday.

The President had said that the federal government would not intervene in the situation unless state and local government were unable to maintain law and order.

Complete Bituminous Resurfacing Of 14 Miles of Stretches on Rt. 13

The job of intermittent resurfacing of Route 13 between New Shawneetown and the Delta mine road in Williamson county was completed yesterday by the contractor, the Macnair Asphalt Co. of East St. Louis.

The project called for bituminous surfacing of approximately 14 of the 32 miles between the two points. Traffic on Route 13 was not halted during the construction job.

Although the road was resurfaced along many stretches where the blacktop was badly needed, it was not widened, as has been the case with the Route 45 resurfacing projects in this area.

In fact, right now the Leon B. Stille Construction Co. has a contract to widen Route 45 from New Burnside to a point about two miles to the north. Stille, it was learned, besides widening the road, NAMED—Superior Court Judge Richard B. Austin, above, of Chicago, has been chosen as the Democratic candidate for Governor of Illinois. Austin replaces Herbert Paschen who resigned from the race after an investigation of an employee welfare fund in his office as County Treasurer.

Seek to Avert Looming Failure Of Suez Talks

Committee Will Meet With Nasser Again Saturday

CAIRO (AP)—The five-power Suez committee headed by Australian Prime Minister R. G. Menzies met for more than three hours today in a desperate attempt to head off looming failure of the Cairo talks.

But it failed even to fix a new meeting date with Egypt's President Gamal Abdel Nasser. Only a dramatic last-minute compromise now could save the talks.

Committee spokesman Noel Deschamps said "in all probability" the committee would decide Saturday when to meet Nasser again. There was no meeting with him today because this is the Moslem Sabbath.

Deschamps added that the committee would not leave without seeing Nasser again—"If only for courtesy's sake."

Surge of Pessimism

Meanwhile, Egyptian newspapers attacked British Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden as a "criminal" bent on war in a sudden surge of pessimism over the outcome of the Suez Canal talks.

The Cairo press prominently published London dispatches claiming Egypt has rejected the plan proposed by U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. These dispatches said the Menzies group will return to London empty-handed.

Similar pessimism was reported in London, where diplomatic sources said Britain has started consultations with the United States and other Allies on the "next step" to take if Nasser finally rejects the Dulles plan. The London dispatches said Britain's peace-or-war orders to the Suez expeditionary force in the Mediterranean will hinge on Menzies' personal report when he returns to Britain.

Informed sources said the United States backed by Iran wanted to reconvene the London Suez conference with Egyptian participation to work out some compromise solution. Sweden wanted to take the whole matter before the United Nations immediately.

Mother is Questioned After Baby's Body Found

RACE VIOLENCE CONTINUES — Though Negro students are now attending the Clinton, Tenn., high school without disturbance at the school, race feeling still runs high in the town. Here, a wild-eyed man attacks photographers who were making pictures as 15 rioters from Oliver Springs were released by the National Guard after being detained following recent violence. Note that the guardsmen nearby made no attempt to prevent the outburst against the photographers.

Army Engineers to Ask Bids on Sept. 21 for Devil's Kitchen Dam

MURPHYSBORO, Ill. (AP)—The Corps of Army Engineers plans to advertise Sept. 21 for the first major bid on completion of Devil's Kitchen Dam, according to Col. George E. White Jr.

White, chief of the St. Louis district, discussed proposed southern Illinois water projects in three personal appearances here Thursday.

At a meeting sponsored by the Murphysboro Chamber of Commerce and Southern Illinois Inc., White said the corps expects to let the Devil's Kitchen Dam contract late in October, about a month after calling for bids.

He said the engineers hope to award contracts next spring for construction of a network of all-weather access roads to permit the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service to proceed with plans for developing recreational aspects of the lake.

Devil's Kitchen would be a sister lake to Crab Orchard and Little Grassy lakes between Marion and Carbondale. It was about half finished when work was abandoned in 1943.

Congress has appropriated two million dollars for completion of Devil's Kitchen. Total cost is estimated at more than four million dollars.

White said the engineers are making a preliminary study on the feasibility of canalizing the Big Muddy River from Grand Tower to a point near Benton, and of similar work for Beaucoup Creek to a point near Pinckneyville.

He said canalization of the Big Muddy is "definitely possible" from an engineering point of view, but that costs must be weighed against the benefits.

Southern Illinois Inc. and other organizations have urged construction of the Big Muddy canal for cheaper transportation of coal from southern Illinois fields and as an attraction to industry.

In an interview over TV Station WSIL at Harrisburg, White said Devil's Kitchen Lake should be ready for use in three to four years.

Larry Sheffield, park ranger for the Crab Orchard National Wildlife Refuge, said private cabin sites would be allowed on the 800 acre lake. Sites will be awarded at a public drawing, he said.

At Benton Thursday night, White told Rend Lake Conservancy District officials and representatives of towns in Franklin and Jefferson counties that the Army Engineer Corps wants to work with them "from the start" in the development of proposed Rend Lake.

He said creation of Rend Lake, covering 22,000 acres in Franklin and Jefferson counties, would be essential to assure year-round navigability of the Big Muddy if the canal plan goes through.

Sherman Minton To Retire from Supreme Court

WASHINGTON (AP)—Associate Justice Sherman Minton today announced his retirement from the Supreme Court.

Minton said he is retiring because of poor health, effective Oct. 15.

Minton announced his intentions in a letter to President Eisenhower this morning. He said that because of a circulatory condition in his legs he did not feel he could carry out "the exacting duties" of his office.

Later he told a reporter "there was a time when they waited on an elderly justice and told him he wasn't doing his work right. I don't want that to happen to me." Minton, who will be 66 on Oct. 20, has been obliged, for the past year, to use a cane and appears to walk with difficulty.

Minton, a former Democratic senator from Indiana, succeeded Justice Wiley B. Rutledge on the high court in October, 1949. He was appointed by President Truman. He had previously served on the 7th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Chicago. He will retire at full pension of $35,000 a year—his regular salary—under the law which allows justices to retire at 65 after 15 years on the federal bench.

The court now is made up of six Democrats and three Republicans.

Minton said his future plans are not definite but that he will return to his New Albany, Ind., home.

FBI Lab Seeks To Learn Cause Of Child's Death

Federal Bureau Withdraws from Kidnaping Case

HAMDEN, Conn. (AP)—The vital organs of six-week-old Cynthia Ruotolo were sent to the FBI laboratory today to determine the cause of her death.

Three boys fishing along the shore of a reservoir found the body of the infant floating in a plastic potato bag Thursday one mile from the crowded department store where she was taken from her carriage last Saturday.

State's Attorney Abraham Ullman questioned the baby's mother, Mrs. Eleanor Ruotolo, 29, three times in 10 hours Thursday. She viewed the body after her husband, Stephen, 33, already had identified it.

Mrs. Ruotolo, sobbing and near collapse, was returned to her home escorted by two policemen and a priest.

Detectives searched the Ruotolo house and yard Thursday. They disclosed they were trying to match a piece of wire which was used to close the top of the transparent cellophane bag in which the body was found.

Authorities Confer

Ullman, after hours of interrogation with the leading figures in the case, conferred with the FBI, state police and local police late Thursday night.

The state's attorney said that no one has been arrested.

"There was no evidence of sexual molestation in the case," Ullman told newsmen. "You have been told everything that can be told." He replied "No comment" to all other questions.

Ullman's office took official charge of the investigation today with the withdrawal of the FBI from the case.

Joseph J. Casper, FBI area chief, announced Thursday night:

"In view of the identification of the body and the fact no interstate transportation is indicated, there appears to be no federal jurisdiction. Consequently the FBI is not empowered to conduct further investigation."

Coroner James J. Corrigan said he was "unable to fix the cause of death."

No Brain Injury

"The baby had a bruise on its forehead and some hemorrhaging, but not brain injury," Corrigan said. "The autopsy, which was concluded about 10:45 p. m. EDT, seemed to show that this bruise was not enough to cause death."

Police revealed that they are holding a Negro man in connection with the case.

Schools to Close Monday Afternoon

Schools here will be closed Monday afternoon, Sept. 10, to permit the children to attend the circus, it was announced today by W. R. Malan, superintendent of the city schools, and Brose Phillips, principal of the Dorrisville school.

School will begin at 8 a. m. and dismiss at 12 noon and there will be no afternoon kindergarten sessions. (Afternoon kindergarten groups will receive full attendance credit). Morning kindergarten groups will dismiss at 11:15.

No child will be counted "tardy" if he arrives by 8:30. Every child in attendance for the four-hour session will receive credit for full day attendance.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Pearson is touring the Middle East. During his absence, the Washington Merry-Go-Round will be written by his junior partner.)

JACK ANDERSON Says:
Report Reveals Sordid Conditions Aboard Wetback Ship; 40 Mexicans Jumped Overboard; Justice Department Called Trip "Delightful Caribbean Cruise."

WASHINGTON. — Immigration Commissioner Joseph Swing is trying to hush it up, but this column can describe the shocking shipboard conditions that caused 40 Mexican "wetbacks" to leap over the side of the S. S. Mercurio into Tampico harbor. Five reportedly drowned in an international incident that still has the Mexican press screaming "outrage."

Swing chartered the cargo vessel to ship "wetbacks" home from Texas. Conditions were so foul aboard the ship that Congressman Bob Mollohan (D., W.
Va.) began an investigation even before the Tampico incident.

From the Justice Department, Mollohan received a bland letter describing a trip aboard the S.
S. Mercurio as a "delightful Caribbean cruise." But the congressman got a starker account from the Military Sea Transport Service.

In a confidential report, Vice Admiral J. M. Will, the MSTC commander, disclosed that the Mercurio carried only two life-boats. One was tested and found to leak. Though the ship also carried life-rafts, only 330 men could be crowded aboard them.

This left 170 "wetbacks" with nothing to do but swim in case the ship sank.

FILTHY CONDITIONS

The hapless Mexicans were also crammed into sleeping space less than six square feet each, barely enough room for them to curl up. The confidential report adds: "The ship shows inadequate maintenance. Weather decks, in general, were pitted and rusty. Insides of hatches and trunks indicate practically no maintenance of these areas."

"Medical facilities are crude by American standards and consist of a small satchel containing few instruments and an assortment of pills and medicines which the doctor stores loosely in small cardboard cartons in his stateroom," the report declares.

"Cleanliness of the galley, when compared with U. S. standards, is unsatisfactory, although it is in keeping with the lack of cleanliness evident throughout those spaces assigned to the crew," the report notes.

MSTS investigators also found the crew's toilet facilities "in a generally filthy condition," while the drinking water aboard ship
"by almost any standard is not palatable."

In a separate letter to Congressman Mollohan, Vice Admiral Alfred C. Richmond, the Coast Guard commander, denied any responsibility. The Coast Guard had not inspected the Mercurio, he wrote, though U. S. regulations require vessels carrying passengers to meet high standards.
Commissioner Swing sought exemption from the regulations on the grounds the "wetback" voyages constituted a defense emergency.

It is obvious, Congressman Mollohan says, that the "wet-backs" had anything but a "delightful Caribbean cruise."

NIXON INC.

Scoops and Scandals—The Los Angeles broker who hit up young Republicans to invest in Nixon Inc., hopes to raise $300,000 to help Donald Nixon the vice president's brother start a chain of drive-ins and supermarkets in Southern California. . . . The broker, Walter E. Peter of Morgan &
Co., has already raised over $200,000. He assured this column that Vice President Nixon himself has no financial interest in the project. . . . Nixon, Inc., already includes a supermarket, family restaurant and drive-in at Whittier, another family restaurant in Fullerton, and a drive-in still under construction at Anaheim.

The great cheese scandal, exposed by the Democrats, was actually discovered by a Republican—Sen. Joe McCarthy. The Wisconsin whiz kid, while still riding high as chief Senate snoop, discovered that the Agriculture Department was buying cheese from warehouses, then selling it back to them the same day for a windfall profit. . . . But McCarthy suddenly called off his investigation, conveniently forgot the whole matter. . . . It may be only coincidence, but McCarthy's 1952 campaign manager, Steve Miller, collected one of the windfall payments. Miller is president of the Central Cheese Company, Marshfield, Wis., which made a fast $24,885 on the cheese deal.

Postmaster General Summerfield, in his drive to brighten up Uncle Sam's mail receptacles with red, white, and blue, threw most of the paint business to Sherwin-Williams company. He called for "Sherwin Williams or equal paint" until the General Services Administration finally forced him to list other brand names. . . . Meanwhile, Sherwin-Williams salesmen got busy and copped most of the business. . . .
Patriotic organizations have protested that Summerfield painted the mailboxes wrong anyway.

INVASION THREATENED

Foreign Flashes — In a personal message to President Eisenhower, British Prime Minister Anthony Eden has solemnly warned that Britain and France may be forced to invade Egypt—if Egyptian strongman Gamal Nasser doesn't back down on his Suez stand. . . . Eden argued that Egypt was the first to use force by seizing the canal. He told the President that Nasser's strategy at the Cairo conference will be to stall.

Meanwhile, British authorities have politely refused to disclose to Washington their military plans in the Mediterranean. . . . In Moscow, western diplomats are gravely weighing Kremlin Czar Nikita Khrushchev's threat to send "volunteers" to help Egypt in case of war. The American embassy is inclined to dismiss the remark as a drunken crack, made under the influence of vodka at a Rumanian reception.

For the second year in a row,
our lady ambassador to Italy, Clare Boothe Luce, walked out huffily on the Venice film festival. Last year she forced festival authorities to withdraw the American entry, "Blackboard Jungle," because she thought foreigners ought not see a movie about our juvenile delinquents. Now she's objecting to another American entry, a war picture called "Attack," which depicts an American officer as a coward. . . . Earlier, the Army refused to cooperate in filming "Attack" on the grounds the story was "derogatory to Army leadership." Producer Robert Aldrich, lacking
Army props, bought a secondhand Army tank for $1,000 and rented another.

Thinking It Over

By Robert Dieffenbacher, D.D.
(Written for NEA Service)

"In a minute" is one of those habitual expressions repeated so frequently that we give little thought to its meaning. Generally the hackneyed phrase is used to quiet some impatient person who is fidgeting because of delay. The words are often uttered in an impatient tone more disturbing than the delay itself.

When we say "in a minute" we generally mean several minutes.
If we actually acted within the 60 seconds which we requested we should shock most people.

The minutes we delay in the course of a day are very unreasonable. Many of our delays are entirely unnecessary. Many result from lack of consideration of other people. If our "in a minutes" were piled on and on for as short a period as a week we should not believe the amount of time we have misused.

We cause untold inconvenience to other people with our selfish delays. The impatience which we couple with the inconvenience is adding insult to injury. We do not mean to hurt others, but we hurt them just the same.

God has given us 24 hours in a day. He has given us friends, relatives and associates. We cannot use the allotted hours independent of other people. Somehow we must learn to fit our time with the time of other people in order to decrease tensions, to increase patience and satisfactions, and to apply the Golden Rule.

MURDER

XXXV

"I told you to stop and think it over," he exploded. "Was it red or black? You ought to remember a simple thing like that. Start thinking about it while I'm on my way over, Lucy."

"Don't you dare, come here at this time of night, Michael. I won't let you in if you do. I'm going to get some sleep. As far as the bag goes, it was black suede. Good night."

Her voice rang in his ears for seconds after he heard the decisive slam of her receiver breaking the connection.

He replaced the phone slowly, shaking his head and glancing at his watch. It was still five minutes to midnight. What had got into Lucy?

He straightened his shoulders and told Gentry absently, nodding toward Paulson. "He's all yours, Will. He'll explain all about the guy Lieutenant Neils has got staked out as Paulson." There was a curious look of concentration on his face as he turned to go out.

"Hold it, Mike. Where you going now?"

"I've got a date with Lucy." Shayne said over his shoulder without slacking pace. "Promised her I'd be back by midnight to have a night-cap with her."

He was out the door without bothering to close it, and he lengthened his stride almost to a run down the corridor and out the side door.

It was something like 16 blocks from police headquarters to Lucy's apartment, and Shayne covered the distance in something like 60 seconds.

He cut his motor off while swinging into the block that held her apartment building, cut off his lights and slid silently to a stop directly across the street.

The curtains were drawn at her front windows, but edges of light showed around them.

Shayne got out and closed the car door quietly, crossed the street to the foyer and went in.

He had a key on his ring that opened both the downstairs inner door and also her apartment.

Shayne had been touched by the gift, and he had been very careful never to use it. He had a special signal he always rang on her bell from the foyer so she would know he was calling.

Tonight, he didn't ring her bell. He got out his keys and picked out the shiny new one that had never been used, and carefully inserted it in the lock.

It turned easily and he went in.

He climbed the one flight of stairs slowly and cautiously, testing each tread for squeaks before putting his weight on it.

At the top, he stopped in front of Lucy's door and drew in a deep breath. Sweat beaded his corrugated forehead and crept down the trenches in his cheeks.

He still held the shiny new key in his hand. He stooped in front of the door and put his left hand on the lock, with thumb and forefinger pressed loosely together in front of the opening to make a sheath of flesh through which he inserted the key without the slightest scraping sound.

When it was firmly bedded, he transferred his hand to the door-knob and pulled on it firmly while he turned the key.

He turned the knob, keeping pressure on it, and then went into the apartment in a violent lunge.

He caught one fleeting glimpse of Lucy seated in a chair beside the telephone as he went by, but his attention was centered on the other occupant of the room.

Female and blonde and deadly, she sprang from the sofa to meet his rush, and there was the reddish gleam of dried blood on the short-bladed knife in her hand.

Shayne went under the vicious arc of the knife and hit her brutally with his shoulder and the full weight of his charging body.

The impact slammed her back against the wall with a crash and she sank to the floor in an unconscious heap.

Midnight

Shayne wasted one brief look at her face to assure himself that it was the girl with the red patent-leather bag who had thrust Charles Barnes' picture in his pocket in the lobby of his hotel earlier, and that she wouldn't be using her knife again for some time to come.

Then he turned to Lucy with a reassuring grin.

Her ankles and her right arm were bound tightly to the legs and arm of her chair with wide strips of cloth that had been torn from a sheet. Her other hand had been left free so she could lift the telephone receiver behind her. Her face was white with strain and her eyes had a glassy look, but she managed to twist her lips in a feeble smile and to ejaculate with spirit:

"It's about time you were coming to the party."

"Sorry I cut it so fine, angel."

Shayne picked up the blood-stained knife from the floor and went to her to kneel and slash her bonds.

"You all right?"

"Sure. Just perfect. Aside from my heart being permanently lodged where my Adam's apple used to be and a few minor things like that. She's insane, Mike! She's already killed two people with that knife tonight. She boasted about it to me. And she was going to cut my throat, too, just as soon as she got the call she was waiting for. She told me it was some man named Lanny. He's in cahoots with her and pretends to be her brother."

Senate Probers Report Stratton 'Very Helpful'

CHICAGO (AP)—Senate investigators reported Gov. William G. Stratton was "very helpful" in a closed session at which they questioned him about bankers' contributions to political campaigns.

Stratton—a candidate for reelection—later called his meeting with personnel of the U. S. Senate Banking and Currency Committee "a very interesting discussion."

Robert Wallace, one of the committee investigators, refused to disclose what the Republican Governor said at the closed meeting yesterday. But Wallace added Stratton was "very helpful."

"I am not a judge," Wallace said. "Our job is just to get information and not decide whether anyone has done anything wrong."

Wallace also emphasized he had no desire to "throw a cloud" over Stratton's record as a state treasurer in previous state administrations, even though he could not disclose what was said.

Wallace said the inquiry concentrated on Stratton's two terms as state treasurer and on "the relationship between political contributions of banks and the placement of state funds in banks."

Stratton appeared voluntarily for his session with the investigators although he had protested earlier they had no right to seek information about contributors to campaign funds of Illinois political candidates.

Wallace also said Stratton suggested the investigators talk with Adlai E. Stevenson, Democratic presidential candidate and Stratton's predecessor as governor. Wallace, however, said he had no such plans because Stevenson "was not a treasurer to my knowledge and I am only interested in the treasurer."

Time to Leave Hodge Alone, Prison Columnist Says

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—A columnist for the Menard Times, Menard State Prison newspaper, today wrote that former State Auditor Orville E. Hodge has "suffered enough" and now should be "left alone."

The columnist, Anon E. Mus, writing in the current issue of the newspaper, said "the most important prisoner of the century has arrived. . . . There have been other scandals, other criminals, but only one as politically important as he has ever been in prison in this state."

The columnist said "I believe Hodge has suffered enough. I believe the newspapers, the public, the courts and the law have done their bit. They have eaten him, digested him and cast him out. Now he should be left alone. And please don't degrade him, powers that be, leave him a little of the inward self, it's all he can have in here."

Record $8.2 Billion Will Be Spent on U. S. Roads This Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Bureau of Public Roads estimated today that highway-conscious Americans will spend a record $8,200,000,000 on highways and streets this year.

The estimate does not include the new, long-range highway program passed by the recent session of Congress. Spending from the highway bill will show up in spending next year.

The 1956 estimate is up $800,000,000 over 1955. The bureau said of the $8,200,000,000 total, $5,500,000,000 will go for actual road building. Maintenance will cost another $1,900,000,000 and administration about $300,000,000.

This series will culminate in the observance of the tenth anniversary of the church, Oct. 7.

Near Record Excise Tax Collections

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Internal Revenue Service reported today it collected a near-record 10 billion dollars in excise taxes last year.

The Treasury expects excise taxes to bring in about $10,800,000,000 this year for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1957.

The record year for excise taxes—covering items ranging from cigarettes and gasoline to automobiles and fishing rods—was 1953. The Revenue Service collected $10,837,401,000 that year.

Father Edward J. Flanagan started Boys Town at Omaha, Neb., in 1917.

U. S. Will Not Yield to Blackmail, Nixon Tells Legion

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon told the closing session of the 38th National American Legion convention Thursday that the United States was willing to negotiate at any time to bring peace to the world but would demand "foolproof" guarantees of sincerity.

The vice president, making his first public appearance since the death of his father Tuesday, warned that there was no "price tag" on peace and said the nation would not "yield to blackmail" and recognize Red China.

Nixon also failed to agree with his political opponent Adlai Stevenson. The Democratic presidential nominee only a day before told the convention he favored halting the draft "at the earliest possible time consistent with national safety."

"This is no time to suggest to our friends or our possible opponents abroad," Nixon said, "that America is getting soft and tired and is looking for an easy way out of world responsibilities."

More than 4,000 Legionnaires jammed Shrine Auditorium to hear the vice president. His speech was interrupted 44 times by applause.

"Wiedemann's new building north of the original fire and the Taylor and Lockwood building adjoining it were saved only by the most desperate efforts. They were damaged considerably. The flames were in the attic of each and could not be reached except by making holes in the roof; hence the buildings were left in bad shape to take the heavy rains of Tuesday night.

"Wilson's restaurant and the offices of Dr. Ballance and Dr. Fusan were in the new Wiedemann building. The post office, Taylor and Rathbone and the Parish Bros. offices were in the Taylor and Lockwood building. The mails were moved out of the post office."

Charley Templeton, fighting the fire, received a cut on the forehead from falling glass and 12 stitches were required to close the wound. Two others, Tom Pearce and Harry Canady, were overcome by smoke."

After the fire the Towle store moved into Dr. Rose's building near the northwest corner of the square and the Seten Dry Goods Co. moved into the Blackman building on South Vine, this story said.

Agency Predicts Higher Price Tag on '57 Autos

DETROIT (AP)—A Detroit statistical agency predicts the 1957 model low-priced cars will go up an average of $100-plus at the factory retail price.

Ward's Automotive Reports said Thursday that "this prospect was unofficially confirmed by two of the Big Three car producers."

The increase, which would be "more sizable" on higher-priced cars, Ward's said, "is more severe than those predicted following recent steel contract settlements and reflects the cost of radically new styling plus further increases in material and labor expense."

Auto industry spokesmen refused comment on the prediction. They said prices of the new models would not be decided upon for a few more weeks.

Ward's said the price increases "mirror the auto industry's premise that each year there must be something new for the customer—greater value or lower price."

It said the auto builders apparently expected the price boost would not hurt the sales of the new models since "a $100 price advance means perhaps a mere $25 down payment increase. The car buyer in recent years has come to deal more in such terms than in specific car pricing."

Bing Crosby Hints Of Wedding This Weekend

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Bing Crosby may wed starlet Kathryn Grant at Hayden Lake near Spokane, Wash., this weekend, a source at her studio said today.

The balding Crosby, whose wife, Dixie, died four years ago, tipped off the possibility of plans for a wedding when he telephoned Columbia Studios Thursday.

The brunette actress was due to report Monday to her studio to start work in a television play for Screen Gems, Columbia's subsidiary which makes TV films.

But Crosby, according to the source, telephoned Harry Cohn, head of the studio, and asked that Kathy be let out of the picture. "And she is playing hooky for a very good reason," the source added.

Crosby, who is 30 years older than Miss Grant, has been vacationing at Hayden Lake.

Kathy was born in Houston, Tex., in 1933. Crosby's biographies list him as being born in Tacoma, Wash., in 1904.

Carpentier, Mallett Continue Battle Over Campaign Funds

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier's office today answered "smear" to a demand that he be removed from the Republican state ticket because of the "flower fund" formerly collected from his employees.

Meanwhile, Carpentier's Nov. 11 opponent, Democrat David F. Mallett, said he would continue to accept campaign contributions from Carpentier employees who feel "disappointment and disillusionment" with Carpentier.

The battle started when two former Carpentier employees, Raymond Coontz and John R. Luther, wrote Gov. William G. Stratton asking him to demand the secretary's resignation from the GOP ticket.

The two employees, who last March joined in a suit asking an accounting of the 2 per cent "flower fund," said Carpentier has evaded demands for an accounting. They said the fund, which was discontinued after the April primary, amounted to $300,000.

Sam Young, assistant secretary of state, shot back that the letter to Stratton was "a rehash of a political smear attempt" made on Carpentier during the primary.

Young said the "smear" was discredited by the majority of GOP voters who renominated Carpentier in the primary.

Mallett jumped into the fight with a statement that he was "pleased to learn my opponent is feeling and realizing the dissatisfaction of his employees who, by supporting my campaign, have voiced their disappointment and disillusionment in the high-handed manner he has conducted his office."

Carpentier Wednesday had called a meeting of his employees.

The volunteers have distributed 2,500 copies of the blueprint to 23 state organizations and other local groups. Another 2,500 copies will be issued shortly.

They said about 75,000 silver Stevenson shoe pins, a shoe with a hole in the sole, also have been distributed.

Two Attorneys Plead Innocent To Bribe Charges

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two oil company attorneys pleaded innocent today to charges that they tried to bribe Sen. Francis Case (R-SD) to vote for the natural gas bill.

John M. Neff and Elmer Patman, attorneys for the Superior Oil Co., entered the plea before Chief Judge Bolitha Laws in Federal District Court. Laws fixed bond at $500 for each and set Nov. 19 as the tentative trial date.

Neff, of Lexington, Neb., and Patman, of Austin, Tex., were specifically accused in a six-count indictment with conspiracy to violate the lobbying law and with offering a $2,500 bribe to Sen. Francis Case (R-SD) during debate on the gas bill last February.

Bull Dogs Work Out Tonight Under Lights

Will Open Season
Sept. 14 with Murphysboro Here

Tonight around seven o'clock the Harrisburg Bull Dogs will work out under the Taylor Field lights as they scrimmage in preparation for the season opener here against Murphysboro at 7:30 p. m. Friday, Sept. 14.

Murphysboro was the first opponent in a game played in Harrisburg last year. The annual first game rivals are coming back again, however, because the South Seven conference football schedule was revised during the winter and if the locals had gone to Murphysboro this year, they would have had but three games at home and six away.

The revised conference schedule again sends the locals to Marion and Herrin, where they played last year.

The complete schedule (*denotes South Seven game):

Sept. 14—Murphysboro here.
Sept. 21—Marion there*.
Sept. 28—Eldorado here.
Oct. 5—Mt. Vernon there*.
Oct. 12—Centralia here (Homecoming).
Oct. 19—Herrin there*.
Oct. 26—Wood River there.
Nov. 2—West Frankfort there*.
Nov. 10—Benton here (Parents Day).

The Bull Pups, the freshman-sophomore team, will not get into action until Sept. 24, when they entertain Marion. The Pup schedule:

Sept. 24—Marion here.
Oct. 1—Eldorado there.
Oct. 8—Mt. Vernon here.

Adams Works Out Squad of 28 Gridders

Eldorado Plays At Anna Sept. 14 In Season Opener

With the opening of the 1956 football season only a week away—Eldorado plays at Anna Friday, Sept. 14 in the season's opener—ETHS coach Al Adams is working with a 28-man varsity squad that includes eight lettermen.

Approximately 50 players are working out each afternoon, including only a few freshmen. At present the ETHS gridders are practicing on the Raleigh baseball field as their gridiron is still being leveled following the installation of a sprinkling system.

"We have many more freshmen wanting to report for practice and they will be issued equipment as soon as we can practice on our own field," Adams said. Transportation presents a problem at present and only a few of the more highly regarded freshmen boys are being taken to the Raleigh field for practice sessions.

Adams was running two teams through a series of plays yesterday afternoon and although lacking in experience, the players were going all out in the hustle department.

One combination included returning lettermen, end Don Kingery, tackle Richard Overton, guards Web Mosby and Jack Mitchell, quarterback Marty Fequay, halfback Don Gwaltney and fullback Gary Phelps. Others in the lineup, brought up from last year's "B" squad, were end James Wood, tackle Bernard Goodley, center Fred Poole and halfback Lester Fequay.

The other team had Rodgers and Willis at ends, Coker and McMahon at tackles, Allen Corbin and Monroe guards, Hauser center, Justice quarterback, Smith and Vessell halfbacks and Reasons fullback. Corbin won his letter last year.

Rounding out the varsity squad were Ben Dempsey, senior speedster playing his first football, Wetlaw, Cuthbertson, Boscarine, Davis and Jones.

Adams will stick with the "T" formation, which has been successful for Eldorado teams in the past. "Chuck" Leonard will assist with the varsity squad and Jim Redden, at Eldorado after a hitch at Cairo, will coach the yearling squad. Redden is particularly pleased over the possibility of Laffoon, 175-pound freshman brother of Bob Laffoon, last year's co-captain.

Carter Favored Over Summerlin In Bout Tonight

NEW YORK (U.P.)—Harold Carter, a 22-year-old Sunday School teacher from Linden, N. J., is favored at 13-10 over Johnny Summerlin of Detroit in tonight's nationally-televised fight at Madison Square Garden between well-rated heavy-weight contenders.

The fight will be both televised and broadcast at 8 p. m. CST, over NBC networks.

(The fight will be telecast locally over Station WSIL.)
Carter rates as the favorite even though Summerlin won a decision over him when they last fought at Detroit on May 23. That was a grueling fight and Summerlin won it only by putting on a savage body attack in the late rounds.

Brennan Sees Chilly Grid Season Unless Sophomore Players Come Through

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (U.P.)—Notre Dame's sophomore football players will have to come through or the Irish will have a chilly season, Coach Terry Brennan, heading into his third season as coach at his alma mater, predicted today.

"We haven't found our best 22 football players yet," he said, "but we're going to have to go through the season with two teams, and we're trying to sprinkle the sophomores in with the veterans."

Already two sophomores have earned starting jobs on the first eleven, tackle Bob Wetoska and guard Angelo Nosca, and a third, Al Ecuery, would have a similar distinction, except that he plays behind Nosca.

But other rookies who could turn into stalwarts for the Irish include ends Gary Myers and Ron Toth, tackles Don Lawrence and Bronko Nagurski, and backs Jim Just, Nick Pietrosante and Norm Odyneic.

Even with a standout All-America candidate at one backfield spot, quarterback Paul Hornung, and Jim Norse a certain starter at one halfback post, Brennan was concerned about the attack.

Shifts Several Players

Aubrey Lewis, formerly a starter, was behind Norse at the moment, but he could move up to the first team, should Brennan switch Norse to right half. Meanwhile, John McDonnell was playing right half, and he could hold the job, or Just could take over, or perhaps Dean Studer, now working at fullback. Should Studer become a halfback, Just would switch to fullback.

Brennan already has shifted several players, moving Wetoska from end to tackle in one transfer and Nosca from tackle to guard, and he was sure there'd be more before the season begins, or possibly after the opening game against Southern Methodist Sept. 22.

"We're experimenting," he said. "But one thing, if one player is better on defense than another, he'll be in the lineup."

Brennan had veterans for three line positions, and a tested reserve for a fourth with George Groble at the other tackle, Dick Prendergast at left end, Bob Gaydos at the other guard, and either Lou Loncaric or Ed Sullivan at center.

But the right end spot was wide open since transfer of Wetoska. Myers could get it or Toth, or maybe Jim Munro, or Bob Scannell.

And after Brennan settles on his first team, then he wants to develop a second team which he can throw into action at any time to give the starters a rest. "I've got confidence in the second team,"

Looking At Sports

By BILL MELTON

Tony Beal, counted on as a top notch candidate for a regular job with the Southern Illinois University football team, has decided not to attend school and play football this year, according to word from Carbondale.

Beal, one of the real wheel-horses in high school football circles the past couple of years with the Harrisburg Bull Dogs, was to be given a shot at the regular fullback spot at SIU and Coach Al Kawa was greatly impressed with his strength and speed. If he hadn't been needed or failed to measure up as a college fullback, Beal would have been given an opportunity to make the SIU team as a lineman.

The SIU squad numbers only a dozen or more candidates from southern Illinois. Among the small group of local area players are two from Eldorado, lineman Bob Laffoon and Quarterback Ron Clark.

Charles Hamilton of Herrin and Don Miller of Cairo, two of last year's brightest high school stars, also are numbered in the group.

The Carterville Lions, coached by Tom Peeler, have 11 lettermen in a group of more than 30 football candidates. Carterville opens the season at Valier.

A tennis club has been organized at Eldorado and plans are being discussed for lighting the tennis courts, located near the Lions club den on South 4th street.

Fifteen persons were present for the organizational meeting.

The University of Illinois football information booklet, from the U. of I. Athletic Publicity Office, has been received and is chock full of interesting facts and figures.

Taken from the booklet, headed Derivation of "Illini"—The state of Illinois was named for the tribe of Indians which inhabited it—the "Illini" they were called, which meant "brave men." Illinois students, and especially the members of athletic teams, are generally known as "Illini." Illinois football teams are alluded to as "The Fighting Illini," which they earned by famous battles against odds. In student life the Indian tradition is carried out. The society of varsity lettermen is called "The Tribe of Illini."
